

Alison Schwartzstein
Manager, Digital Rights and Intellectual Property

Alison Schwartzstein, Manager of Digital Rights and Intellectual Property, joined the Dallas Museum of Art in October of 2014. Schwartzstein oversees the day-to-day digital rights & licensing requests for images and other media, as well as the long-term analysis of the various intellectual property issues pertaining to the DMA's permanent collection.

Schwartzstein earned a J.D. from Texas A&M University School of Law, as well as a Certificate in Intellectual Property Law. Schwartzstein previously attended Sotheby's Institute of Art where she earned a Certificate in Art Law and interned with Winston Art Group, the nation's leading independent art appraisal and advisory firm. While at Texas A&M University School of Law, Schwartzstein served as President ('12 - '13) and Vice President ('13 - '14) of the Sports and Entertainment Law Society. Schwartzstein was an inaugural member of The Entrepreneurship Law Clinic and presented multiple workshops titled "IP 101" through the Center for Law and Intellectual Property (CLIP) "Need to Know" speaker series.

Schwartzstein is a member of the Dallas Bar Association, Dallas Association of Young Lawyers, and the Junior League of Dallas.