Srividhya Ragavan

Professor of Law
Texas A&M University School of Law

Srividhya Ragavan joined the Texas A&M School of Law in 2016 from the University of Oklahoma College of Law.

Srividhya Ragavan's research emphasizes issues relating to international trade and intellectual property rights. She writes on a variety of related issues including traditional knowledge, pharmaceutical patenting and agricultural subsidies. Her work, both research as well as service, particularly focusses on India. Ragavan's monograph Patents and Trade Disparities in Developing Countries was published by Oxford University Press. Ragavan's co-edited book with Irene Calboli on diversity in intellectual property was published by Cambridge University Press.

Ragavan serves as a consultant for the Department of Industrial Policy & Promotion, Government of India. Ragavan has served as a Fulbright Nehru Scholar and as a Fulbright Specialist in the South Asia region. Ragavan has a SJD from the George Washington University Law School, an LL.M. from King's College, University of London and B.A. LL.B. (Honors) from the National Law School of India University, Bangalore